INITIAL & ONGOING COMPETENCY PLANS

“High-level disinfection and sterilization are both complex multi-step processes that rely on competent individuals to assure that safety and quality are continually recognized as driving factors. Initial and on-going competency, training, and adhering to manufacturer’s instructions for use and evidence-based guidelines are important to patient safety.”¹

- The Joint Commission

GUS initial training and ongoing competency plans help staff stay up-to-date to comply with manufacturer’s instructions for use and industry guidelines.
